so remember when i went on a pseudo date with that boy [REDACTED] last week? well we went to this dumb lil party hosted by the university and ended up going back to his room and hooking up. he's so smart and goofy and is really attractive and MAN i hadn't been with anyone in over a year so.... wow we ended up going further than i'd ever gone before which was gr8. and we snuggled and laughed and talked and it was beautiful and sweet and all great things but that still leaves [REDACTED]. i like him a lot and my heart does flippy floppy things when i see him which is gross but we still haven't really seen each other since college started hopefully stuff will happen but idk what's going to happen. if things will be casual and open for both persons???? maybe. i like them both and it'd be cool to see what happens upd8:

so last friday [REDACTED] and whatever we had going on between us and i took/am taking it really hard. somewhere over the week i realized that i had made the wrong choice choosing him

#personal #

i realized that [REDACTED] seems to get me more and i don't have to try so hard to be cool around him. so how isn't that what relationships are???

anyway, i went over to his place yesterday and told him that i was interested, but he's focusing on his schoolwork and doesn't want to do anything aside from being platonic cuddlebuds (which we had been for the past week). i thought that something would work out but that's ok and im not upset

i don't know. it reminds me of when i got rejected from columbia and how devastated i was by it. a week after that, i got deferred by uchicago and wasn't sad because i was all sad-ed out. maybe i'm drawing connections where there are none, but it makes me feel better to see parallels in my life for some reason.

i'm going to focus on my work. i miss cuddling and saying cute things to the person you like. that's fun. that's cool. but now i get to do that to my copy of the Iliad, which is very uchicago and probably what i should be focusing most on right now tuesday's post

so monday i fooled around with [REDACTED] for the first time in a very long time. it was nice and very much needed. we discussed possibly having sex in the near future and i felt really comfortable with him and trusted him.

we decided to talk about what happened that night last night, in order to figure out what would happen next. so he sits me down and says "i'm still in love with my ex-girlfriend, sorry for leading you on"

wait.... what? NO.

WHY WOULD YOU DO THAT TO SOMEONE IF YOU WERE TOTALLY AWARE THAT YOU'RE STILL IN LOVE WITH HER THAT'S SO FUCKED UP IM BEYOND ANGRY
AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH

HE IS GOING TO BE THE REASON WHY I DEVELOP TRUST ISSUES PAST WHAT I CURRENTLY HAVE WHY

WHY

NO

#boys #fuck this #sweaterboy

I was thinking today about how I'm probably not going to lose my virginity for a long while because there is nobody that I can think of at this school or elsewhere that I trust enough to have sex with like maybe one person but I don't know

I discussed losing it with another guy because he made me happy and feel good and appreciated and he seemed interested until he told me he was still in love with his girl he lost his to. and that makes me sad because I thought he would be the one and that he cared enough about me to maybe make more out of that.

I made him sad too and feel terrible about it. I wish I could apologize in a way that would change things but that'd never happen. I don't think that we'll ever be together and that's ok if I never met Jake I'd probably be dating [redacted] but w/o life goes as it does ugh sometimes I think about how badly I fucked up with [redacted] and get upset because he was so great and really understood me and we connected at a great level but I let my interest in [redacted] get in the way of something that could have been amazing for me
